Deposit in an Annuity Account (Structured installment payments)

A structured settlement, sometimes called a "structure", is an agreement in which an individual accepts a series of payments over time (as opposed to a single lump sum amount) from a defendant or insurer. The name refers to the fact that payments are structured to meet specific needs. These payments will flow to you tax-free for a fixed period of time or for life depending on how the payments are structured.

These types of payments provide financial security and protection. Future income is guaranteed for certain periods of time and/or for life, depending on the request of the eligible recipient of the funds. The annuity contracts are only issued by life insurance companies with top-tier credit ratings. With proper planning you can ensure that money is guaranteed for years, safe from financial mistake and settlement fraud and corruption.

If you choose this option, we will provide your contact information to The Pension Company, a known service provider with a credible history of structuring these types of periodic payments. A representative will contact you to assist you in establishing this type of account.
